EXPLANATORY.

The object of this publication is to keep those interested in Chicago real estate, posted as to values. For this purpose there is printed each month herein a list of lots as offered for sale in the newspapers and from lists submitted by subscribers, showing the prices asked. In addition thereto, the transfers of property from day to day are carefully scrutinized and those sales which evidently are for the ground only, as near as can be determined, are included in the list.

Besides, each month there are given eight maps, with the approximate valuations given therein, of the land in each block per front foot, a new territory being covered each issue. See Index to Maps for the program each year. At the end of the year these maps are all collected and printed in a book called Olcott's Land Value Maps for Chicago. Each map covers  $1\frac{1}{2}$  sections of ground.

The publication is designed to be a medium of making sales as well as showing values. Each lot offered is for sale at the price named. Any person desiring to know who the advertiser is, where a blind number is given, can get the address from this office. In all other cases the address may be ascertained by referring to the "key" on pages 10 and 11 of the publication itself. The prefix A signifies agent; O, owner.

The abbreviations used are those current in real estate circles. Thus, nr means near; ef, east front; wf, west front, etc.; n, north; s, south, etc.; 100s, 100 feet south of, etc. The figures 7'10 (July, 1910), etc., indicate the date the property in question was advertised.

LISTING PROPERTIES.

Subscribers may list free as many lots as they desire, when location, description and price are given. Send for blanks. Any five improved properties also will be listed free for subscribers.

Nonsubscribers by sending one dollar may list any property they desire to sell, and, in addition, will be mailed copy containing their Ad, together with any one copy they may order sent of previous issues showing valuations in territory in which they are interested. Order from Index to Maps. Properties so listed will remain until sold, a brief one line description being printed each month and a full description retained in the office of this publication for the benefit of inquirers. The address of such advertisers will be printed under a key number, so that replies may go direct as well as to this office.

EXPLANATORY.

The object of this publication is to keep those interested in Chicago real estate, posted as to values. For this purpose there is printed each month herein a list of lots as offered for sale in the newspapers and from lists submitted by subscribers, showing the prices asked. In addition thereto, the transfers of property from day to day are carefully scrutinized and those sales which evidently are for the ground only, as near as can be determined, are included in the list.

Besides, each month there are given eight maps, with the approximate valuations given therein, of the land in each block per front foot, a new territory being covered each issue. See Index to Maps for the program each year. At the end of the year these maps are all collected and printed in a book called Olcott's Land Value Maps for Chicago. Each map covers  $1\frac{1}{2}$  sections of ground.

The publication is designed to be a medium of making sales as well as showing values. Each lot offered is for sale at the price named. Any person desiring to know who the advertiser is, where a blind number is given, can get the address from this office. In all other cases the address may be ascertained by referring to the "key" on pages 10 and 11 of the publication itself. The prefix A signifies agent; O, owner.

The abbreviations used are those current in real estate circles. Thus, nr means near; ef, east front; wf, west front, etc.; n, north; s, south, etc.; 100s, 100 feet south of, etc. The figures 7'10 (July, 1910), etc., indicate the date the property in question was advertised.

LISTING PROPERTIES.

Subscribers may list free as many lots as they desire, when location, description and price are given. Send for blanks. Any five improved properties also will be listed free for subscribers.

Nonsubscribers by sending one dollar may list any property they desire to sell, and, in addition, will be mailed copy containing their Ad, together with any one copy they may order sent of previous issues showing valuations in territory in which they are interested. Order from Index to Maps. Properties so listed will remain until sold, a brief one line description being printed each month and a full description retained in the office of this publication for the benefit of inquirers. The address of such advertisers will be printed under a key number, so that replies may go direct as well as to this office.

TABLE OF VALUATION OF LOTS OF DIFFERENT DEPTHS IN SAME BLOCK

A LOT 100 FEET IN DEPTH BEING THE UNIT OF VALUE

NOTE. The valuations given in this publication are for lots of the prevailing depth in each block. In order to ascertain the value of lots of a greater or lesser depth, reduce to a unit of value of a lot 100 feet in depth in that block, using tables below. Then use the same tables to find value of lot of depth sought.

OLCOTT'S SYSTEM OF CORNER VALUATION

By GEORGE C. OLCOTT

The value per front foot for inside lots of an average depth in any block having been ascertained, the value of the corner lot per front foot may be arrived at with approximate accuracy by the adoption of the following rules:

On Residence Streets—To the value per foot on the frontage street, add one-quarter of the value per foot of the side street.

Thus, if the value of the street on which a lot faces has been placed at $100 per front foot for that block, and the value of the lots on the side street at $80 per front foot, the value of the corner may be safely called $120 per front foot.

In estimating the value of corner lots on any street, 50 feet is regarded as coming under the corner influence. If the 50 feet is divided up into two holdings, the corner value with few exceptions applies only to the immediate corner lot.

On Residence Streets in Transition to Business Streets—To the value per foot on the frontage street, add one-half of the value per foot of the side street.

On Business Streets Outside Downtown Center—To the value per foot on the frontage street, add the full value per foot of the side street.

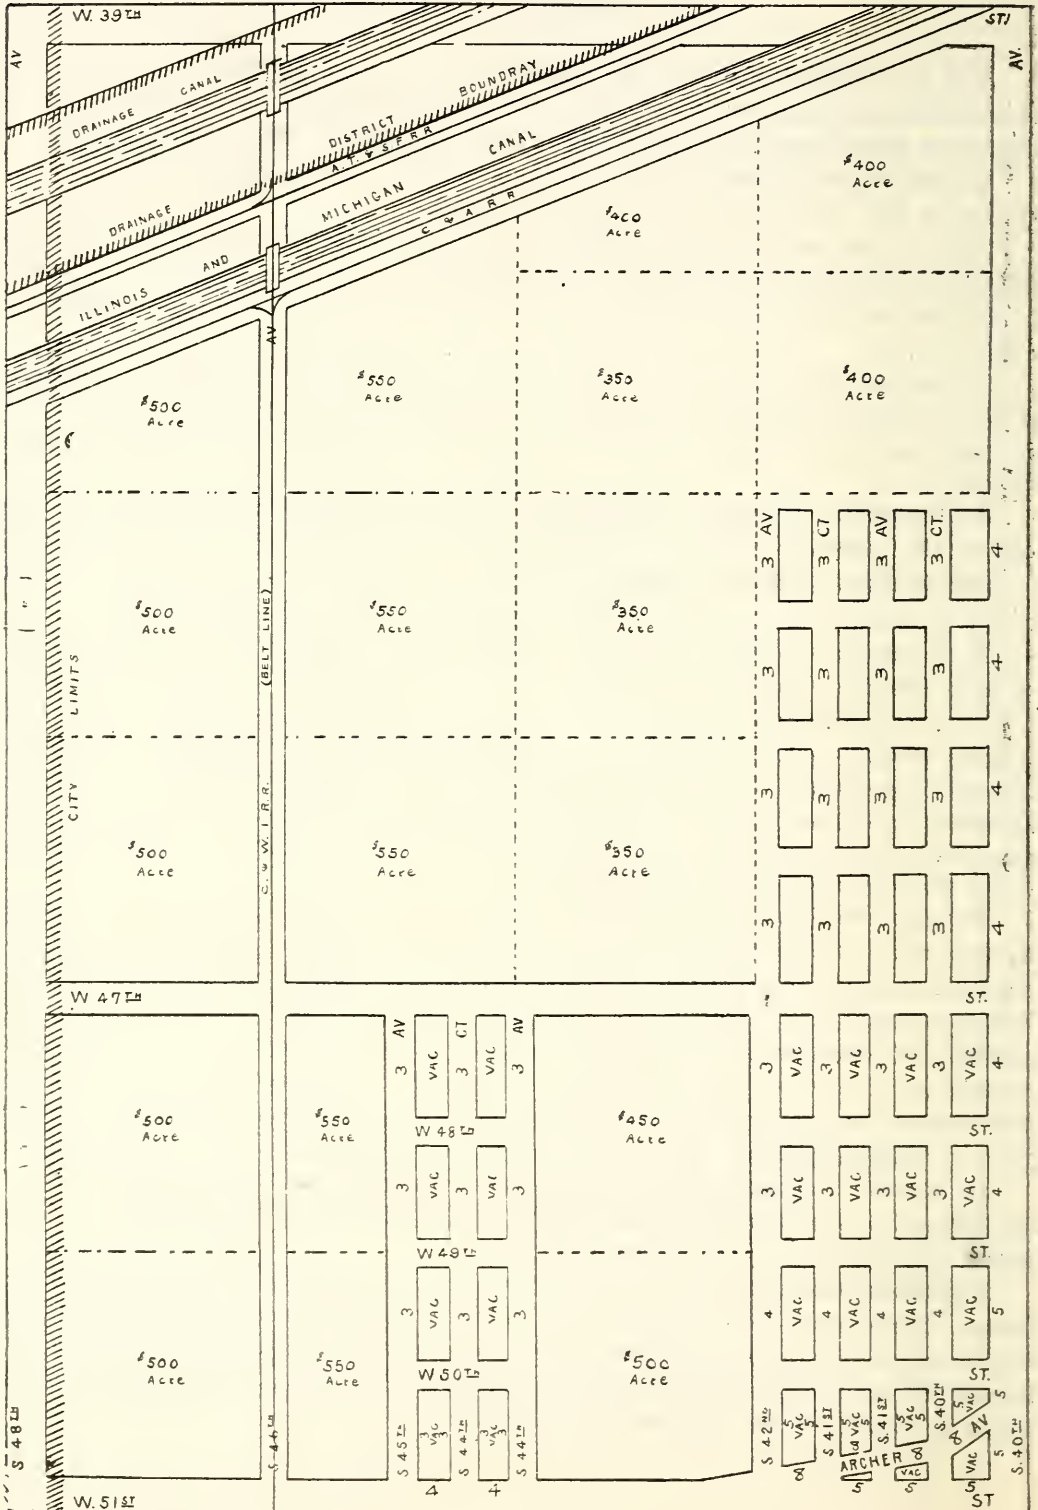

If a transfer corner, where the intersecting car lines run at right angles for some distance and do not parallel each other partially or wholly, a fair basis to start on is the full value per foot of the values placed upon the four converging blocks added together. To this add such a percentage as may be suggested by length of distance traveled and population of tributary territory thereto of said lines. Local conditions, such as license district limits, population immediately around said corner, nearness of factory, church or school, affect corner values favorably or otherwise.

Perhaps as accurate results as by any method may be arrived at by estimating the value of all the corners on a given business street, in order to find the relative value of the particular one desired. Select the best corner on the street, then the next, and the next, to the least valuable corner. Get all the data possible, of sales and asking prices. Start from the ascertained facts and increase or decrease proportionately the value of the corners as they have been selected as better or less desirable than the ones from which the data has given a starting point.

In Factory Districts—To the value per square on the main frontage street, add three-eighths of the value per square foot placed upon the side street. Use square foot values only in factory districts.

Downtown Corners—No rule can be successfully applied to downtown corner values. Each must be determined by itself on a square foot basis, taking into consideration location, conditions, size, shape, and even occupancy. In large department stores one square foot is practically as good as another, whether corner or inside, when considered as a whole.

EXPLANATORY.

The object of this publication is to keep those interested in Chicago real estate, posted as to values. For this purpose there is printed each month herein a list of lots as offered for sale in the newspapers and from lists submitted by subscribers, showing the prices asked. In addition thereto, the transfers of property from day to day are carefully scrutinized and those sales which evidently are for the ground only, as near as can be determined, are included in the list.

Besides, each month there are given eight maps, with the approximate valuations given therein, of the land in each block per front foot, a new territory being covered each issue. See Index to Maps for the program each year. At the end of the year these maps are all collected and printed in a book called Olcott's Land Value Maps for Chicago. Each map covers  $1\frac{1}{2}$  sections of ground.

The publication is designed to be a medium of making sales as well as showing values. Each lot offered is for sale at the price named. Any person desiring to know who the advertiser is, where a blind number is given, can get the address from this office. In all other cases the address may be ascertained by referring to the "key" on pages 10 and 11 of the publication itself. The prefix A signifies agent; O, owner.

The abbreviations used are those current in real estate circles. Thus, nr means near; ef, east front; wf, west front, etc.; n, north; s, south, etc.; 100s, 100 feet south of, etc. The figures 7'10 (July, 1910), etc., indicate the date the property in question was advertised.

LISTING PROPERTIES.

Subscribers may list free as many lots as they desire, when location, description and price are given. Send for blanks. Any five improved properties also will be listed free for subscribers.

Nonsubscribers by sending one dollar may list any property they desire to sell, and, in addition, will be mailed copy containing their Ad, together with any one copy they may order sent of previous issues showing valuations in territory in which they are interested. Order from Index to Maps. Properties so listed will remain until sold, a brief one line description being printed each month and a full description retained in the office of this publication for the benefit of inquirers. The address of such advertisers will be printed under a key number, so that replies may go direct as well as to this office.

OLCOTT'S SYSTEM OF CORNER VALUATION

The value per front foot for inside lots of an average depth in any block having been ascertained, the value of the corner lot per front foot may be arrived at with approximate accuracy by the adoption of the following rules:

On Residence Streets—To the value per foot on the frontage street, add one-quarter of the value per foot of the side street.

Thus, if the value of the street on which a lot faces has been placed at $100 per front foot for that block, and the value of the lots on the side street at $80 per front foot, the value of the corner may be safely called $120 per front foot.

In estimating the value of corner lots on any street, 50 feet is regarded as coming under the corner influence. If the 50 feet is divided up into two holdings, the corner value with few exceptions applies only to the immediate corner lot.

On Residence Streets in Transition to Business Streets—To the value per foot on the frontage street, add one-half of the value per foot of the side street.

On Business Streets Outside Downtown Center—To the value per foot on the frontage street, add the full value per foot of the side street.

If a transfer corner, where the intersecting car lines run at right angles for some distance and do not parallel each other partially or wholly, a fair basis to start on is the full value per foot of the values placed upon the four converging blocks added together. To this add such a percentage as may be suggested by length of distance traveled and population of tributary territory thereto of said lines. Local conditions, such as license district limits, population immediately around said corner, nearness of factory, church or school, affect corner values favorably or otherwise.

Perhaps as accurate results as by any method may be arrived at by estimating the value of all the corners on a given business street, in order to find the relative value of the particular one desired. Select the best corner on the street, then the next, and the next, to the least valuable corner. Get all the data possible, of sales and asking prices. Start from the ascertained facts and increase or decrease proportionately the value of the corners as they have been selected as better or less desirable than the ones from which the data has given a starting point.

In Factory Districts—To the value per square on the main frontage street, add three-eighths of the value per square foot placed upon the side street. Use square foot values only in factory districts.

Downtown Corners—No rule can be successfully applied to downtown corner values. Each must be determined by itself on a square foot basis, taking into consideration location, conditions, size, shape, and even occupancy. In large department stores one square foot is practically as good as another, whether corner or inside, when considered as a whole.

EXPLANATORY.

The object of this publication is to keep those interested in Chicago real estate, posted as to values. For this purpose there is printed each month herein a list of lots as offered for sale in the newspapers and from lists submitted by subscribers, showing the prices asked. In addition thereto, the transfers of property from day to day are carefully scrutinized and those sales which evidently are for the ground only, as near as can be determined, are included in the list.

Besides, each month there are given eight maps, with the approximate valuations given therein, of the land in each block per front foot, a new territory being covered each issue. See Index to Maps for the program each year. At the end of the year these maps are all collected and printed in a book called Olcott's Land Value Maps for Chicago. Each map covers  $1\frac{1}{2}$  sections of ground.

The publication is designed to be a medium of making sales as well as showing values. Each lot offered is for sale at the price named. Any person desiring to know who the advertiser is, where a blind number is given, can get the address from this office. In all other cases the address may be ascertained by referring to the "key" on pages 10 and 11 of the publication itself. The prefix A signifies agent; O, owner.

The abbreviations used are those current in real estate circles. Thus, nr means near; ef, east front; wf, west front, etc.; n, north; s, south, etc.; 100s, 100 feet south of, etc. The figures 7'10 (July, 1910), etc., indicate the date the property in question was advertised.

LISTING PROPERTIES.

Subscribers may list free as many lots as they desire, when location, description and price are given. Send for blanks. Any five improved properties also will be listed free for subscribers.

Nonsubscribers by sending one dollar may list any property they desire to sell, and, in addition, will be mailed copy containing their Ad, together with any one copy they may order sent of previous issues showing valuations in territory in which they are interested. Order from Index to Maps. Properties so listed will remain until sold, a brief one line description being printed each month and a full description retained in the office of this publication for the benefit of inquirers. The address of such advertisers will be printed under a key number, so that replies may go direct as well as to this office.

EXPLANATORY.

The object of this publication is to keep those interested in Chicago real estate, posted as to values. For this purpose there is printed each month herein a list of lots as offered for sale in the newspapers and from lists submitted by subscribers, showing the prices asked. In addition thereto, the transfers of property from day to day are carefully scrutinized and those sales which evidently are for the ground only, as near as can be determined, are included in the list.

Besides, each month there are given eight maps, with the approximate valuations given therein, of the land in each block per front foot, a new territory being covered each issue. See Index to Maps for the program each year. At the end of the year these maps are all collected and printed in a book called Olcott's Land Value Maps for Chicago. Each map covers 1½ sections of ground.

The publication is designed to be a medium of making sales as well as showing values. Each lot offered is for sale at the price named. Any person desiring to know who the advertiser is, where a blind number is given, can get the address from this office. In all other cases the address may be ascertained by referring to the "key" on pages 10 and 11 of the publication itself. The prefix A signifies agent; O, owner.

The abbreviations used are those current in real estate circles. Thus, nr means near; ef, east front; wf, west front, etc.; n, north; s, south, etc.; 100s, 100 feet south of, etc. The figures 7'10 (July, 1910), etc., indicate the date the property in question was advertised.

LISTING PROPERTIES.

Subscribers may list free as many lots as they desire, when location, description and price are given. Send for blanks. Any five improved properties also will be listed free for subscribers.

Nonsubscribers by sending one dollar may list any property they desire to sell, and, in addition, will be mailed copy containing their Ad, together with any one copy they may order sent of previous issues showing valuations in territory in which they are interested. Order from Index to Maps. Properties so listed will remain until sold, a brief one line description being printed each month and a full description retained in the office of this publication for the benefit of inquirers. The address of such advertisers will be printed under a key number, so that replies may go direct as well as to this office.

EXPLANATORY.

The object of this publication is to keep those interested in Chicago real estate, posted as to values. For this purpose there is printed each month herein a list of lots as offered for sale in the newspapers and from lists submitted by subscribers, showing the prices asked. In addition thereto, the transfers of property from day to day are carefully scrutinized and those sales which evidently are for the ground only, as near as can be determined, are included in the list.

Besides, each month there are given eight maps, with the approximate valuations given therein, of the land in each block per front foot, a new territory being covered each issue. See Index to Maps for the program each year. At the end of the year these maps are all collected and printed in a book called Olcott's Land Value Maps for Chicago. Each map covers 1½ sections of ground.

The publication is designed to be a medium of making sales as well as showing values. Each lot offered is for sale at the price named. Any person desiring to know who the advertiser is, where a blind number is given, can get the address from this office. In all other cases the address may be ascertained by referring to the "key" on pages 10 and 11 of the publication itself. The prefix A signifies agent; O, owner.

The abbreviations used are those current in real estate circles. Thus, nr means near; ef, east front; wf, west front, etc.; n, north; s, south, etc.; 100s, 100 feet south of, etc. The figures 7'10 (July, 1910), etc., indicate the date the property in question was advertised.

LISTING PROPERTIES.

Subscribers may list free as many lots as they desire, when location, description and price are given. Send for blanks. Any five improved properties also will be listed free for subscribers.

Nonsubscribers by sending one dollar may list any property they desire to sell, and, in addition, will be mailed copy containing their Ad, together with any one copy they may order sent of previous issues showing valuations in territory in which they are interested. Order from Index to Maps. Properties so listed will remain until sold, a brief one line description being printed each month and a full description retained in the office of this publication for the benefit of inquirers. The address of such advertisers will be printed under a key number, so that replies may go direct as well as to this office.
